Did you get your questions answered?

by Kathy Carlig

Margaret Emmetts, The TR Times Editor and meeting moderator, began the Meet the Candidates program at exactly 1 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 7 with over 100 residents in attendance. She reminded everyone of the meeting's format. Candidates for the TR Board of Director positions were asked to make opening and closing statements. They also would answer general questions previously received at The TR Times office, followed by written questions submitted from the floor.
Each question is directed to one candidate or all candidates, but any candidate may respond if they choose.

Each candidate gave an opening statement. The order of presentation of opening statements was decided by drawing numbers.

Katherine Shawver has had 30 years of experience working for Sprint. In addition, she also taught in the management field and was employed as a Work Kamper. She has lived fulltime in her motorcoach for nine years.

Leo Lejeune was born in New Brunswick and spent 13 years in Toronto. He has lived more than 4 years at TR and considers TR his "forever home." He has worked in the Snack Shack and as a Ranger on the Golf Course. He also serves on the Maintenance Committee.
Lejeune's wife Susan serves as a First Responder.

Rosita Williams has been a full-time resident since 2015 when she found the campground on the Internet. Her mother taught her that no rest would mean that she would not develop rust so she is involved in quilting and sewing, developing the Food Truck program and volunteering as a non-voting Board member in the role of Recording Secretary replacing D.J. Martz. She is also involved in the church at TR.

Pam Wood is a nine-year resident of TR who has worked in finance throughout her career. She began as a teller and ended her career in her home county as a treasurer and tax collector as well as manager of a $25 million budget.

The 2020 group of candidates for Board of Director positions pose at the Meet the Candidates program. They are, front row: Kathy Shawver, Moderator Margaret Emmetts, and Pam Wood. Rear row: Ken Lewis, Randy Doell, Lisa Cahill, Leo Lejeune and Rosita Williams. John Green who is also a candidate was not present.

Ken Lewis hails from New York and Maine. When searching for his ideal retirement spot, he happened on TR and hasn't left.
This is his second full season. In his work life he managed convenience stores .

Lisa Cahill came to TR and liked it so well three years ago she sold her home in New Port Richey.
She now lives here full time. She was employed by TR for one year.

Randy Doell is an 18-year resident of TR. He was General Manager of the resort for 14 years and believes it is now time for him to give back to the resort. He wants to make it a safe place for all.

John Green is also a candidate but was unable to attend this meeting.

Questions

What specific skills that are applicable to the park do you possess?

Lejeune - His background in grounds and maintenance at Alfred University will be of value here at TR.

Shawver - Her background as a full-time camper will be of value.

At about this point in the program there was a power failure.
Lights and sound systems were out. Moderator Emmetts asked the audience if they wished to continue with the program, realizing that it would be difficult to hear with no sound. The unanimous response from the audience was to continue.

What do you think could be done to keep yearly costs down as many are on a fixed income?

Cahill - Dividends could be paid to stockholders or rents could be discounted.

Wood - Some money needs to be kept in reserve to cover future downturns or damage to the park.
Even with insurance we still must pay deductibles. Improving the physical plant and sewer systems will be necessary.

Lejeune - Some money must be used for upkeep but we still need to maintain a cushion for possible costs.

How can TR use social media to its advantage?

Williams - Social media can provide us with good information such as reminders of upcoming events or sale of property. It should not be used for griping. If something needs to be corrected, notify the TR Office.

What do you see as the most significant concerns of TR residents and what solutions would you propose?

Doell - A major concern of the resort is wastewater treatment and wells.

Shawver - Residents are concerned that a corporation may try to buy TR.

Do you think the communication between the Board and the residents is adequate? If not what could be done to improve?

Lewis - Bigger issues should be communicated to the Board. He suggested a real restroom be provided near the Snack Shack.

Williams - More residents should be at Forums to ask for information. Take advantage of the Veranda Chats. We are all part of the TR family.

Given the increasing number of full-time residents, should permanent residents pay higher fees than seasonal residents?

Lejeune and Lewis - Price should be the same for both seasonal and permanent residents.

To Doell: Since you sell real estate within the park, would you consider serving on the Board a conflict interest?

I have completed both non-compete and conflict of interest forms. The Board believes there will be no problem. My real estate sales occur outside the park.

How would you deal with finances?

Wood - Our budget ranges between one and two million dollars and we have $500,000 in reserve. We now have three wells.
We are required to have two at all times so the third is a backup.
Overall the Park is very healthy financially.

How would you deal with decreased volunteerism?

Shawver - We must encourage volunteerism and lead by example.
Meet and introduce new people and encourage them to volunteer.

What would be #1 on your agenda to benefit the park?

Lejeune- Keep the park full, observe what good things other parks are doing, make safety a priority.

Shawver - Make sure the park operates ethically and legally and that it is safe.

Help us celebrate The TR Times 35th anniversary

by Margaret Emmetts

The TR Times will be celebrating its 35th anniversary this year.
To highlight this event the paper will hold an open house on Saturday, Feb. 22 from 1 to 3 p.m. in The TR Times office and the Paul Rife Room

Please mark your calendar to join us to celebrate this occasion.

Join us first in the Paul Rife room for refreshments. Guests will then be taken in small groups to tour the paper's office.

An explanation will be given of how the paper comes together.
You may be amazed at how much work comes out of one small room.

Hope to see you on Feb. 22.

Kudos to Ray and Wes and their team

by Margaret Emmetts

Last Thursday night a strong storm rolled through our area with winds up to 30 miles per hour and torrential rain. Although TR was luckier than many nearby parks, we still had a lot of debris in the form of leaves, branches and Spanish moss.

About 10:30 Friday morning I thought it might be a good idea to send a Times photographer out to take pictures of some of the mess the storm left behind.
Imagine my surprise to learn that it all had been cleaned up!

Kudos to Manager Ray and Wes and his Maintenance team for all the good work they do and how quickly they do it.

Should we have new greens on the golf course?
Doell - Greens have a lifespan. We must use long-term planning to keep them up.
Lejeune - We need to keep improving the golf course.

How would you increase finances?

Cahill - Would like to see weddings in off season. Someone she knows could provide a package which includes catering, music and insurance.

Lejeune - In his past career, he managed a 100 acre site plus campground that had weddings and conferences.

Should we add Pickleball Courts?

Lejeune - If we add courts we will need to consider possible locations, their cost and supervision.

Shawver - Pickleball is the fastest growing sport in the country. New people will come to TR based on our ability to provide courts.

Should residents attend Forums?

Lejeune - Yes, you can learn what is going on. Don't just grumble, ask questions of the Board.

Williams - Forums are the best way to let the Board know your questions and your wishes.

Should we upgrade the restroom on the golf course?
Lejeune - Would like to see improvements in the restroom.

Shawver - The restroom can remain as usual on the golf course. Most courses offer about the same.

Closing Statements
At about this point in the program the lights and sound came back on.

Doell - I want to continue to enjoy the TR Paradise.

Cahill - We need to have year round maintenance. If we are to be a fine resort, we must look like one.

Lewis - We are doing a great job of keeping up the resort.

Wood - Appreciates the people coming out to Meet the Candidates and hopes we will all look for a way to volunteer.

Williams - Residents make the park and agrees with Pam's comments.

Lejeune - Thanks for the opportunity to speak. He wants the park run in a professional manner. He will work with the Board. Safety should be at the top of the list and believes he would be of value in that area.

Shawver - I have 12 years of experience on Boards of Directors and thanked the residents for coming to the meeting.

In closing, Margaret Emmetts reminded us about the election voting options.
You may submit your ballot with your choice of candidates as you indicate on the back and return it by mail to the Office before the Annual Meeting or bring it with you to the meeting.
On the ballot, you may designate an individual or the Board as your proxy to vote your shares.
You (or your proxy if another person) may vote for any number of candidates up to the number of open seats (6 this year).
If you designate the Board as your proxy, it will vote your shares for the 6 candidates that the nominating committee has recommended.

If you submit your ballot without any markings, your shares will be counted toward the quorum but without any votes for candidates.

More detailed information is in the Voting Instructions in the AGM packet.

We are fortunate to be self-governed at TR and the election of Board members is an important part of living here.

Plan to attend the Annual Stockholders Meeting on Tuesday, March 10 in Busch Hall.

Dining with Friends continues to grow

There is nothing like sharing dinner with many of your closest friends.

Nearly 80 people turned out last Saturday evening with their casseroles, salads, and desserts to share with their friends. So many arrived that helpers needed to quickly set up more tables and chairs to hold all of the wonderful food and new people who wanted to participate. If you want to share in this fantastic array of friends and food, look at your recipes in time for dinner Saturday, March 14, 5 to 7 p.m. in Busch Hall.

Briefings from the Board

by Linda Gelinas

This year is proving to be a banner year for Travelers Rest and there is a feeling of satisfaction throughout the park. Not only does everything look lush and green but the park is full! There may be a night here or there available and you may see an empty lot in RV South, but any empty lot has had the lot rent paid for the season and is just awaiting occupancy. In addition to all of that, the hill is full for January, February and March of 2021 and a wait list has been started. We must be doing things right.

There are currently 40 shares available for purchase for a range of $4,000-$7,000.

By now you have received and hopefully reviewed the package for the Annual General Meeting schedule on Tuesday, March 10, 2020 at 2 p.m. in Busch Hall. Your package contains the resumes of the candidates for the six positions on the Board of Directors. Take the time to familiarize yourself with the candidates and their qualifications. Meet the Candidates was held on Feb. 6, so your opportunity to hear them address the questions put to them has passed. It's important to exercise your right to vote if you were a shareholder as of Dec. 31, 2019. If you cannot be here at TR in person or cannot attend the AGM, please take the time to fill out your vote and put it in the in park mail to the TR Office, or assign your proxy to another shareholder or the TR Board. Numbers are extremely important and I know we tend to harp on that issue, but if the magic number of 501 is not met for a quorum, business cannot be conducted and that includes the vote for candidates. Let your voice be heard and make your vote count.

The Forum held on Monday, Feb. 3 was rather poorly attended, perhaps because it was such a beautiful day. The Forum is where you have an opportunity to hear what is happening with the Board of Directors and Park Management and to get updated on the current financial status of TR. You also have an opportunity to ask questions and have your say. A Forum is scheduled on the first Monday of every month during the season of November to March at 3 p.m. in Busch Hall.

One of the topics that has been repeated a few times this season and in past years is the issue of household goods at the garbage stations both behind Busch Hall and in RV South. Many residents have taken to leaving goods that still have life in them off to the side for other residents to have. The best suggestion for disposing of these items is to put them in the TR Trailer located near Oak View for donation to the Daystar Hope Center charity.

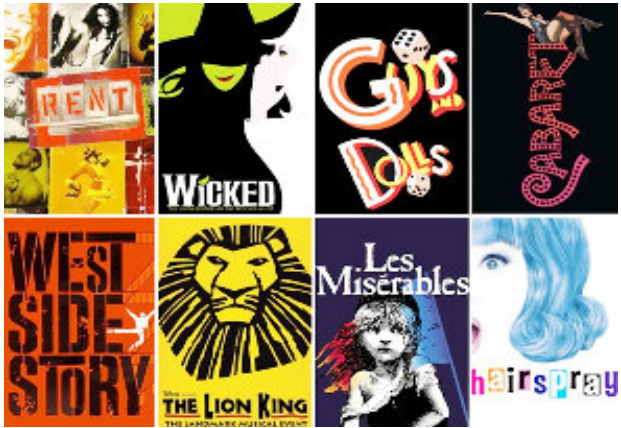

If items are left at the dumpster and then are taken to the landfill by park employees, or get put into the dumpsters, the park is paying for their removal. Chairs, tables, lamps etc. are not considered household garbage and there is a fee for their disposal if the park disposes of them.

The other reminder is about the recycling of cardboard. Please dispose of cardboard boxes and paper in the container marked for recycle. Cardboard boxes must be broken down.

Veranda Chat

The next Veranda Chat is scheduled for Monday, Feb. 17 at 3 p.m. outside the Post Office.

Wednesday Concert Series A Walk Down Broadway Wednesday, Feb. 19

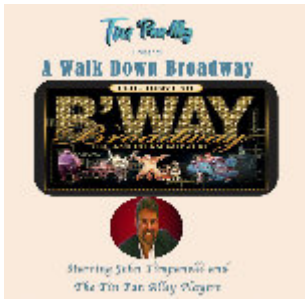

by Doug Pedersen

Across the years, the Broadway stage has added hundreds of musical contributions to the Great American Songbook. A Walk Down Broadway is a Tin Pan Alley agency production featuring a regional troupe of ten professional singers. You'll enjoy a musical journey that includes selections from Phantom of the Opera, Fiddler on the Roof, Cats, Evita, Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dream Coat, Sound of Music, Jesus Christ Superstar, Wicked, Hairspray, and Les Miserables.

This will be an evening filled with some of the best of Broadway music.

You'll think you had tickets to more than a dozen different shows.

Doors open at 6:30 p.m. and the show begins at 7 p.m. Admission is with a season reserved-seat ticket or $10 paid at the door for general admission seating.

Vanishing Lake mystery

by Norm Eden

We published a beer bottle pic at Vanishing Lake. Just been down there today and there were three. I put a reachable one in trash. It was recently reported that a Brewers Blackbird – there is such a species, had left a Big Brown Beer Bottle (BBBB) floating on Vanishing Lake.

Now as we know that the human species at TR doesn't throw BBBBs in the lake and three is too many for a blackbird to drink; therefore, the BBBBs probably came through the concrete pipe that feeds into the lake. Wonder who lives at the other end of the pipe?

RENEE DE TAR

by Sandy Poast

On Friday, Feb. 7 thirty people met in the Paul Rife Room to be briefed on how important it is to use the exercise equipment properly. Renee DeTar, a professional yoga and exercise instructor, gave very good instructions on the use and benefits of each piece of equipment.

Beware of unlicensed contractors

In watching the TV news recently, Florida Police reported that they had arrested more than 100 unlicensed home contractors for fraud. They accomplished this by setting up several homes with plain-clothed police acting as the homeowners.

Police report that this scam is widespread in Florida. Someone will come to your home and suggest that they can make repairs for you. Often the price they offer is such that it makes you want to accept their offer. However, these individuals are often unlicensed.

When an unlicensed person offers to do work for you, you usually have no recourse when things go south. It is not unusual for them to require a substantial down payment. After they receive the money, they can no longer be found. This leaves the homeowner out thousands of dollars.

At the last Forum one resident noted that several people had approached asking if their unit was for sale and that they had no way of knowing if they were TR residents or someone from outside the park up to no good. Again this may be an instance of a possible scam.

In any event, soliciting is not permitted at TR. If someone who does not appear to be a TR resident comes to your unit making any kind of offer, please contact the TR Office immediately so they can investigate. Another reason for wearing your name tags is that if you have your name tag on, it is a given that you belong in the park.

Let’s all work together to keep everyone safe. mre

The Servant’s Plow
The unshakable kingdom

by Chaplain Anthony Shipe

In 1 Corinthians 3:10-15 Paul describes building your life on a sure foundation. He makes it clear that there is no stronger foundation laid than that of Jesus Christ. Jodie and I lived in south Florida for nearly 13 years. I was always amazed by the opulence in the Cape Coral, Bonita Springs and Naples area. Some of the homes in that area are the biggest and most ornate structures I have ever seen. I was mentally anguished about the amount due on some of those tax bills. Not only that, we were required by the state to carry expensive flood insurance in the coastal areas as far as 25 miles inland. Our home was located a mile from the Gulf of Mexico in southwest Cape Coral.

Recently I had the pleasure of reading the story of The Three Little Pigs to my grandson Haziah. It was very entertaining to him and a valid reminder to anyone about the importance of building your life on ground that is unshakable. We are all familiar with the stories in the news recently of earthquakes and aftershocks.

The familiar children’s story begins when Mother Pig sends out the three little pigs. It is time for them to build their own houses. Pig number one built a house of straw. The big bad wolf came along and wanted inside the house. He was refused and the pig said, “not by the hair of my chin-ee-chin-chin.” My grandson thought that part was hilarious. The wolf managed to blow the house of straw down. That brought tears. Pig number two built a house of sticks. The wolf came and knocked on the door of the rickety house of sticks. The structure also crumbled with the howling winds of the wolf.

The wisest pig of all built his house with something much different. The mean old wolf could not get enough wind to blow the brick house down. So he thought he might try and sneak down the chimney. That wolf shot back up through the chimney when his tail was burned in a boiling pot of water. The three little pigs were safe inside the brick house.

If our lives are built with straw-and-stick framing, when things begin to shake they will crumble and fall. But if you place Jesus as the cornerstone of your life and build with the bricks of His Kingdom, it is a structure that cannot be shaken. The gates of Hell shall not prevail against it. In this world there will be earthquakes, fires and floods; however, the builder can be saved. Insure your life with the Master Builder’s Plan.

Every donation helps a family build a foundation ...
Habitat for Humanity

by Pam Watkins

TR residents make a difference to our Pasco County neighbors in many ways. We organize fundraisers and we donate food, Christmas gifts, clothing, bedding, as well as give of our time and skills. Another way to make a difference is through our monetary contributions.

In the next two weeks you will have an opportunity to donate to Habitat for Humanity of Pasco County. This organization and its volunteers partner with families in need of housing to help them build homes and pay an affordable mortgage.

Please consider making a difference in someone’s life and helping to demonstrate the love of Jesus Christ, one of Habitat for Humanity’s guiding principles, by donating to this worthy cause. Donations will be accepted on Sunday, Feb. 16 and Feb. 23 during TR’s regular church service. You may also submit it to Vince Smith at lot 03-06 in person or via TR mail.

TR HISTORY

The Siren

by Jean Cobb
RN and First Responder

Imagine you are playing pickleball with several friends when you notice that one of your friends is sweating profusely and appears shaky and anxious. You ask if they are OK. They respond slowly, appear a bit confused and say that they are feeling 'pretty bad.' Remembering that they are diabetic, you realize that diabetic hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) is likely the problem and know that your quick action is critical. When they say they have glucose tablets in their athletic bag, you retrieve them and give them three (3) to chew. Within five minutes, they are starting to feel better. You drive them home in their golf cart and help them prepare cheese and crackers as a snack. They check their blood sugar and it is 90 mg/dL. Disaster averted!

Left untreated, diabetic hypoglycemia quickly becomes a 911 medical emergency because it can lead to loss of consciousness, seizures and even death. Once the diabetic loses the ability to safely swallow, hypoglycemia becomes more difficult to treat, so early action is imperative.

The diabetic who takes insulin is at greatest risk for experiencing hypoglycemia, but it can happen with oral diabetic medications as well. Low blood sugar (hypoglycemia) occurs when there's too much insulin and not enough sugar

Diabetic Hypoglycemia (Low Blood Sugar) is a medical emergency

(glucose) in the blood. Common causes of diabetic hypoglycemia include taking too much insulin or other diabetes medications, skipping a meal, or exercising harder than usual. Drinking alcoholic beverages on an empty stomach can also trigger episodes of diabetic hypoglycemia.

Hypoglycemia is defined as a blood sugar measurement below 70 mg/dL or (for our Canadian friends) 4 mmol/L. Early warning signs include: shakiness, headache, dizziness, sweating, extreme hunger, irritability or moodiness, confusion, anxiety or nervousness. If the diabetic experiences symptoms of low blood sugar but cannot check their blood sugar level right away, treat them as though they have (low blood sugar) hypoglycemia.

Attend to early warning signs so low blood sugar can be treated promptly while the diabetic can cooperate to swallow glucose-containing food or drink. Early treatment is eating or drinking foods/liquids that will raise blood sugar level quickly: 5 or 6 pieces of hard candy; 4 oz of fruit juice or regular (not diet) soda; 1 tablespoon of sugar, jelly or honey; or 3 glucose tablets. Note: Do not attempt to give food or drink to anyone who cannot safely swallow as it may cause choking or aspiration into the lungs. Blood sugar should rise and the diabetic should begin to feel better within 5-10 minutes. If they do not recover within 15 minutes, repeat the sugar-containing treatment. When the diabetic does respond to the initial sugar and feels better, follow with a snack that contains more complex carbohydrate and protein such as peanut butter and jelly sandwich or cheese and crackers to prevent the blood sugar from dropping again once the initial sugar has been used by the body.

Dial 911 if the diabetic cannot safely swallow, does not respond to food/fluids that should raise blood sugar quickly or if they show signs and symptoms of severe hypoglycemia, including difficulty speaking or slurred speech, clumsiness or jerky movements, blurry or double vision, confusion, muscle weakness, convulsions or seizures or unconsciousness.

TR First Responders have glucose gel to treat hypoglycemia. And, as soon as the Pasco County ambulance arrives, injectable or intravenous glucose can be administered to the patient who cannot safely swallow. So, stay calm and stay where you are - help is on the way!

And a final note - It is wise for the diabetic to wear a Medical Alert bracelet/necklace. It also is very important for them to tell family and friends what symptoms to look for and what to do in case they are not able to recognize and/or treat hypoglycemia themselves when it happens.

Have Fun – Stay Safe!!

Note: This story first appeared in February 2011. Today is Valentine's Day and love is in the air at TR. This weekend women's hearts will be longing for romance, flowers, special gifts and of course sentimental Valentine's cards. Men's hearts will be ... I asked Bill to help with the words here and he said it would be safer if I just imagined what his heart longs for. Perhaps he's wondering where to take me out for dinner or what kind of flowers to buy ... maybe not.

I decided to make Bill a list of possible gifts for Valentine's in case he needs some hints. I have alphabetized the list and will make sure that he reads this column.

Card: According to me a Valentine card is mandatory and should be mushy with a bright red envelope, big print for old eyes and some superlatives about how wonderful I am. The signature should include the word love and a reference to how darn lucky Bill is to have me. If the price of the card exceeds Bill's limited budget, he can just take me to the store and show me the fantastic card he would have purchased.

Chocolate: Chocolate is a universal choice for Valentine giving. Chocolate is delicious, often comes in an attractive heart-shaped package and, of course, it is easily shared – definitely a gift that Bill and I can enjoy together.

Dinner: Candlelight, soft music and fine dining can really set the tone for a romantic Valentine's evening. As we have gotten older it is hard to read a menu by candlelight. If the music is too soft we can't hear it and fine dining has been replaced by the early bird special. Now we can go out to eat and be home again in time for Wheel of Fortune and Bill's after-dinner nap. Flowers: Bill has very little experience in buying flowers for me. A dozen roses when each of our three children were born, an orchid corsage for our senior prom and one pot of chrysanthemums would just about be a complete list of flowers I have received. After all these years I am not expecting a magnificent bouquet to arrive on Feb. 14. Special note to Bill: I enjoy flowering plants like gloxinias or cyclamens and if you are very lucky they will last until my birthday in March.

Jane's World Happy Valentine's Day

Jewelry: Earrings, bracelets, necklaces or rings are super gifts. These often come in cute velvet boxes, have lots of sparkle and they are a lot easier to hide as a Valentine surprise than, say, a shiny red convertible. Note to Bill: You really don't need to surprise me – any car will be perfect.

Lingerie: In a romantic Valentine movie the blonde starlet wears a red, slinky and lace-trimmed outfit. In real life I could use a new nightgown – flannel, long-sleeved and floor-length. I think my slinky days are over, but red would be fine.

Other: Perhaps I should include a suggestion for ladies who want to buy something special for their Valentine guy. See lingerie and ... I'm sure you get the idea.

In Jane's real world, the spirit of love and romance is alive and well. Bill is my valentine and there is no one I would rather be with on Feb. 14. He spoils me regularly and he knows the three magic words that all women love to hear, "Let's eat out."

Have a Happy Valentine's Day. Hug a loved one. Phone a friend. Pamper yourself.

Love is in the air.

Activity Affairs

by Jeri Miller

My thought for this week – The biggest lie I tell myself is... I don't need to write that down; I will remember it. Yeah, right! Now, I say message me.

Let's talk business first – All chairpersons and/or treasurers should have received a financial statement form in your in-park mail. This form is for our 2019-2020 season. The monies listed are dated as of August 1, 2019 which is the beginning of our season.

Hoping that getting this form now will make it easier for you. All forms are to be returned to the TR bookkeeper as soon as your activity is over for the season. If you didn't receive yours, please let me know.

Heads up – Michigan's state luncheon is Saturday, Feb. 15 in Citrus East at noon. A sign-up sheet is posted in Busch Hall. Say what?

I didn't see any pasties (no gravy) written on the "dish-to-pass" sheet?

Two of our state get togethers, Illinois on Feb. 16 and Indiana on Feb. 18, are going out of the park.

TRGA Spaghetti Dinner – Hoping that you already have Thursday, Feb. 20 marked on your calendar because tickets are all sold out. We all want to support our TRGolf Association as they raise funds for golf course beautification and improvements.

The beautification team would love for more of you to stroll out on the golf course on a Tuesday morning and give them a big thank you.

Yard & Patio Sales Update – Next Friday, Feb. 21 is our "friends helping friends" day. Remember one friend's junk is another friend's treasure. Just line your pockets with lots of money.

Why you say? – Maybe along the way, you might find that special item that you have been looking for. You never know what you are going to find and that is what makes it so much fun.

The Garden Club's fundraiser for the season is also part of this event. Delicious donuts and coffee will be sold in Oak View area. You never know what other goodies there may be. Of course, there will be plants, bulbs, etc.

Golden Anniversary Dance – Do you have friends celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary. Friday, Feb. 28 in Busch Hall is their night to celebrate this event. Come all and help celebrate with our TR friends. More details next week.

Lookin' Back – Our Alzheimer's fundraiser was a huge success thanks to all of TR. And it was ALL. Sandy Nelson was in charge of the Strawberry Social and served about 250 residents with the help of our TR Ladies Golf League volunteers. I was in charge of the Silent Auction part. Our TR residents came forward with many great items and then came the bidders. When all of that was over, our well-trained TR ladies took over and it only took about 20 minutes to finish up.

Now, you are asking how much did we make? About $4000 and more still to come. Still waiting for the first person to proclaim – "I am an Alzheimer's survivor."

Dining with Friends info – About 80 residents from all over the park sat down to a delicious potluck dinner last Saturday. Our theme for this season Getting to Know You came in to play and play we did. Everyone had a great evening.

All for now- Just Keep on, Keepin' on!

Coffee Seminars

by Terry Hosig

On Tuesday, Feb. 18, Advent Health will be here to help us Spring Clean Your Medicine Cabinet. Alan Brenia, RPH will present. Are you ready to shake out the rugs and winter blues? Have you considered tidying up your medicine cabinet? If you've taken medications during the past year it's good to toss any leftover meds. It's important to extend your spring cleaning to your medicine cabinet to help protect yourself and your loved ones. Mr. Brenia will discuss the right steps you should take with your specific medication.

On Thursday, Feb. 20, there will be no seminar as preparations will be underway for the TRGA Spaghetti Dinner.

by Phyllis Zitzer

Come join us on Saturday, Feb. 22 starting at 5:30 p.m. for a fun night at the Snack Shack Shelter and the Fire Pit. Bring a dish to pass, your drinks, your dishes, utensils, your chair, your favorite campfire song, any musical instruments you play and your neighbors. Thanks to all the musicians who make the evening so special.

In the past we have told stories and jokes, sung songs, done some drumming, and just had a great time. How long you stay is up to you. We'll provide beef and turkey hot dogs with rolls and everything you need to make s'mores. There will be a donation jar for these items.

Please RSVP so we know we'll have enough hot dogs and s'mores. Sign up on the list on the TR Activities Board in Busch Hall or you can contact Phyllis Zitzer at 717-379-3054 or pjzitzer@gmail.com. Come, join the fun and make new friends!

TR RC Motorsports meet twice a week

by Mike Cuddy

Near the Snack Shack a gathering takes place from 10 to 11:30 a.m. each Wednesday and Saturday morning. No, it is not Daytona, Talladega, East Bay or Bubba's Raceway: it is our very own TR RC Motorsports Race Track. The group is a bunch of racers who are having a fun time with radio controlled (RC) cars.

The cars are Traxxas Slash 1/10 scale short course trucks (SCTs). The trucks are straight from the box and ready to race. They are powered by electric battery packs. Each truck represents the personality of the racer by its color scheme and number. The racers often choose the numbers of their favorite cars and drivers from NASCAR, USAC, ARCA, Indy Car, or other racing leagues or just personal choice. Many have battle scars from the racing action.

A driver's stand looks over the track which is in the shape of Pocono, a tri-oval. Each turn requires a different strategy and skill to make it around. Coordination of hands and eyes make for some exciting times. Wrecks are a part of the action in each race.

Racers are grouped by points earned with a maximum of five racers to a group.

Each group races two races of 10 laps each, back to back (two twin 10s) and a 15-lap feature. Points are scored in each race with the feature doubling the points of the individual races, (e.g. five points for first place in heats and 10 points in the feature.)

Picnic benches provide a pit area and spectator seating. There are as many as 21 racers with the possibility of even more.

The Snack Shack opens at 11:30 a.m. and a meal can be had after the event.

If you want to see the 'Big One,' you do not have to go to Daytona or Talladega. Just come down and watch the TR RC Racers.

How far have you traveled?

by Margaret Emmetts

Since TR was originally formed as an Airstream park it is a given that most of our residents are travelers. In speaking to a number of residents I found it amazing that their travels consisted mostly of trips to states in the continental United States, Canada and possibly Mexico. In other words, places to which they could drive. Many have not traveled overseas although many years ago Airstream did sponsor caravans to France and South Africa.

Traveling on the North American continent allows one to visit cultures that are just a couple of hundred years old. However, if one is to venture further afield you may visit cultures much, much older.

If you were to travel to Lima, Peru, for instance, you might visit a home that has been continually occupied by the same family since Pizarro founded the city of Lima circa 1500 A. D. The home features an ornately carved dining room table in which the family name is carved. Also in South America one may fly over the Andes and view the Nazca Lines. The Nazca Lines create hundreds of pictures etched in the desert by ancient cultures. It is still not definitely known how these patterns were created when they can only be properly viewed from the air.

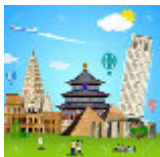

It is common in Amsterdam, the Netherlands to find families that occupy homes that are anywhere from 700 to 800 years old.

To go back even further, on a trip to Greece you will marvel at a thousand years old plumbing system that was designed to clean city streets.

Also in Greece, you might also view unique thousands of years old gold jewelry that is comprised of many tiny gold spheres. An artist traveling with me pointed out how difficult it is to create these spheres. The gold must be within a very limited temperature range to permit the balls to form. If the gold is too hot, the spheres will flatten. If too cool, the spheres will not form. How did these artists measure the correct temperature at which to create this jewelry when temperature measuring devices had not yet been created?

In China one might find a metal chariot that contains a gimbaled umbrella designed to shade the Emperor. Gimbaled means that the umbrella contains a mechanism that permits it to be tilted in any direction. Isn’t it remarkable that this technology existed thousands of years ago?

In Rome one may sit at an outdoor café having lunch and be in sight of ruins that are thousands of years old. A visit to the Colosseum may introduce you to features of the structure about which you were unaware. Did you know that the structure originally had a retractable cover to shade the seats of the wealthy? Also the area was capable of being flooded to simulate naval battles. Elevators were used to bring animals from holding pens to the floor of the arena.

My take-away from these distant travels is a sense of awe for the technologies that existed so very long ago. Broaden your horizons and try a visit to an ancient land.

Calling all cooks

by Margaret Emmetts

We have many excellent cooks in the park, so we thought it might be a good idea to introduce a column to have a way for these cooks to share their knowledge. The TR Times will be publishing recipes submitted by residents, as space in the paper permits.

If you have a favorite recipe you would be willing to share, please submit it to the paper. The recipe may be placed in our box in Busch Hall, or emailed to us. Please remember to include your name, phone number or lot number with the recipe so that we can contact you if we have any questions.

- 1 C Granny Smith apples peeled and diced
- 1 12 oz bag fresh cranberries

In a medium saucepan bring cinnamon, sugar, salt, and water to a boil over medium heat. Stir occasionally until sugar is dissolved.

Stir in cranberries and apples. Simmer until slightly thickened and the berries begin to pop. I like to smash the cranberries and apples.

Remove from heat and cool at room temperature, about one hour.

Not always a quick fix

by Linda Quinn

As soon to be full-time residents of the Sunshine State, we are working feverishly day and night to get our house ready to turn over to the new owners. I didn't have time to write a new column, but I did take a few minutes to find a timely column to reprint from February 2018.

A few things happened recently that reminded me how electronic devices can be both extremely sensitive and extremely annoying. As readers of this column know, we recently "cut the cable TV cord," relying on Internet streaming service for our television viewing. On Super Bowl Sunday we had just settled down to watch the game, when there was a momentary power outage. After about a minute, the lights came back on but not the television. Our modem showed power, but DSL and Internet lights were out. My immediate thought was that CenturyLink, the service provider, experienced an outage. My husband suggested something more obvious, that the power spike had damaged our modem. I disagreed, insisting that the router could not be the problem since it was powered on. Sure that the problem was with the provider, I contacted CenturyLink customer service and spent a very frustrating 20 minutes with an agent who, after asking innumerable questions for security purposes, finally told me there were no reported outages in our area.

Whenever something goes wrong with one of our electronic devices, I try to troubleshoot the cause. The problem with my usual way of thinking is that I rarely follow the sage, philosophical advice of Occam's razor – the simplest solution is most often the best one. In this case, my husband was right, the problem was with the modem.

We had replaced our CenturyLink modem just after Christmas, because the Internet was very slow, even for a DSL connection. The new Netgear modem provided a much faster connection — until Super Bowl Sunday. After the frustrating phone call to CenturyLink, I heeded my husband's suggestion and disconnected the Netgear modem and replaced it with our original modem. Sure enough, we were back online and watched the rest of the game. Before giving up on our Netgear modem, I tried a hard reset, which returns a device to its original factory settings, and surprisingly that resolved the issue. The modem was not broken, but the power outage must have caused something inside the modem to disconnect.

The answer to another recent problem proved an easier fix. The email software on my computer stopped receiving new mail, even though I could receive email on my iPad. I tried reopening the mail program, and when that didn't work, I restarted the computer.

Once again I was receiving email. I don't know what caused the problem, but a restart was the fix.

The third problem we encountered was the most unsettling. My husband's PC is protected from computer viruses and malware by BitDefender, a program that has been very effective. The other morning the program quit and a message flashed on his screen saying that BitDefender Security Services encountered a critical error. After restarting the computer the message reappeared, and we were concerned about leaving sensitive data unprotected. We visited the BitDefender website, which was not working correctly. I clicked on the HELP link, but it did not go anywhere, Chat was "unavailable," and the listed phone numbers went unanswered. BitDefender itself appeared to be experiencing a major problem, and we were unsure what to do. The next morning, while my husband worked on activating Microsoft's built-in firewall and virus protection, I decided to try contacting BitDefender one more time. Sure enough the website displayed a message that an update to the program had gone wrong, affecting users all over the world — followed by directions on how to fix the problem. A few minutes later my husband's computer was once again protected.

The moral of this tale is, when a problem exists, try the simplest solutions first. If a piece of software stops working, close it and then open it again. If that doesn't work, try restarting the device or computer, and as a last resort reset the device to factory settings. It doesn't matter if you are working on a desktop computer, a laptop, a tablet or a smartphone, technology is great when it works, but so frustrating when it doesn't.

Garden News

Garden walk is coming

THE STONE WALL BUILT BY CRYSTAL TAPP

by Leslie Ewing

The annual Garden Walk is less than a month away. This season it will be held on Sunday, March 1, from 2 to 4 p.m. This is a party for everyone at TR, with cookies and punch, art work from artists here at TR and TR musicians playing music throughout the park.

Garden Club members and volunteers have worked many hours to make the garden look its best. Crystal Tapp is one of our volunteers. Unfortunately, Crystal and her husband, Roger, have left TR because their reservation in Golf View has ended. Both Crystal and Roger are combat veterans. On 9/11, Crystal was a Master Sergeant in the U.S. Air Force, stationed in Ohio with the 200th Red Horse Squadron.

Although Crystal only stays at TR for about one month of each season, she has made an impact in the garden. Three years ago, she built a stone wall, visible in the picture, in front of our garden sheds. TR residents have painted rocks to resemble their RVs and placed them on the ledges of the stone wall.

There are many ledges remaining that don't have decorated rocks. TR residents are encouraged to paint their own rock to look like their RV and place them on the empty ledges. It would be wonderful to have a few more decorated rocks in place for the Garden Walk.

This season Crystal installed a stone garden next to the stone wall. She created a new garden area at the gazebo. Crystal has planted new flowers and placed more stones around the fish pond beside the swinging seat. She calls this, The Serenity Garden, with hope that residents and guests facing challenges will come here and find comfort. With the fish pond recently cleaned and work around it completed, the goldfish will be back in the pond shortly.

The club will miss Crystal at the Garden Walk. We hope she is enjoying her garden in North Carolina. We can hardly wait for her return next season.

In other garden news, the club regrets to inform residents that a banana plant with bananas on it was blown down by the windstorm on Thursday, Feb. 5. Robert Mignacca is planning to take a portion of the plant and place it in the soil in hope of regrowing the plant.

TR Master Gardener Phyllis Zitzer successfully completed the certification process to declare the TR garden a Monarch Waystation, which is a stopping place for Monarch Butterflies. Milkweed and flowering plants provide food and a place for larvae to develop into mature butterflies as Monarch Butterflies migrate to Mexico for the winter. It appears that some butterflies will spend the winter here in our garden.

The TR Yard Sale will be Friday, Feb. 21. Starting at 8 a.m. on that day, Garden Club members will be at the Oakview Shelter where Glavich Produce sells fruits and vegetables, selling coffee, tea, doughnuts, cold bottled water, plants and bulbs. They will be there until they sell out.

Roses are red... and pink and yellow and white

Roses are a universal favorite so let's follow their life journey. Rose hips contain the seeds that are pollinated by insects that visit the rose plants. Rose hips are found at the base of the flower buds. When the flowers bloom they emit a sweet odor that attracts prospective pollinators. The fertilized seeds then develop inside the rose hips. Rose blossoms are no longer needed after fertilization so they wilt and die leaving the fertilized seeds to be dispersed by a variety of "winged carriers." Bees, butterflies, hummingbirds and even the wind play a part in pollinating roses.

Note: Roses do not have thorns — they have prickles. Thorns grow from deep inside the stems of plants, as do leaves. Prickles grow from the outer layer or "epidermis" of the stem.

Birding Activity

Difficult to identify a bird!?

by Norman Eden

No problem, familiarity.... in just a few seconds it's easy to identify a male Northern Cardinal... size, shape, crest, color and black chin — even in flight. Then, there's another one, almost the same overall but much less bright - it's a female cardinal. Familiarity - we all recognize robins when they arrive. House Sparrows are the easy little-brown-jobs but for the many other sparrows and sparrow-looking LBJs, that's not nearly so easy, as they initially look to be the same. Crows and vultures are easy — but can you instantly tell the difference between a Turkey Vulture and a Black Vulture? Again, it's easy when you are familiar with the species so that your brain quickly identifies the necessary diagnostic features. No surprise that familiarity comes from practice, using one of the several good bird guides as well as watching their habitat and behavior. But achieving that familiarity is the problem and knowing where the bird lives, the range, and whether it is a migratory species or not is available from your bird guide. There are several species to be seen here at TR sometimes that are good examples but that can be confusing to identify.

House Finch and Purple Finch: The House Finch is year-round over most of the nation and uncommon in this area, but it is known to breed here. The Purple Finch may look similar with its brighter red head but is officially rare south of Georgia. So range indicates it's almost certainly a House Finch you may see here at TR.

Downy and Hairy Woodpeckers: Both live here year-round as they do over most of the nation. They have very similar plumage and although Hairy is the larger you are not going to see them together very often to compare size. Both are still very small woodpeckers so there can be doubt which one you have spotted. But provided you can see the bird's head, the size of its beak is diagnostic. The Hairy's beak is long, strong and about the same length as its head, while the Downy's is smaller than the back-to-front measure of its head. When you see this once you have no Hairy/Downy problems.

Little Blue Herons and Egrets: C'mon now! Egrets are white and the attractive Little Blue Heron is...very blue. It's a great bird for us birders from the north as it is only found in the coastal band from the Carolinas, Florida and around the Gulf Coast. It can usually be seen at TR most days. However, you know you are a birder when you identify an immature Little Blue Heron, which just happens to be white and generally the same size and shape as either the Snowy or the Cattle Egret. It can very easily confuse experienced birders. The immature Little Blue has green legs and the other two have gray or black legs. Hope you see one soon.

To be a birder you need to have your own reference guide and there is still a lot to be said for a book. The Sibley guides to Eastern and Western North America must still be the most popular after some 20 years of publication. The National Geographic Guide to the Birds of North America is bigger but a great source of information and there are others on the shelves. In addition, you will want to have a guide on your iPad and smartphone. Try Audubon and Cornell/Merlin for state-of-the-art programs. Some programs are free to download — they are all good. I use iBird Ultimate which is worth every cent of the one-time $20 cost.

Happy birding — check the Busch Hall board for the January sightings.

Library News

by Mary Kosbab

Many thanks to those who purchased our TR Book Buddies. We sold six at the February Flea Market and four prior to the Flea Market. There are three still available. They are in the TR Library on the windowsill beside the desk. Book Buddies make it very easy to set a book on your lap and just turn the page. We have also heard they are great for iPads, Kindles and still-life photography. They are especially good for people with arthritic hands.

In addition to the people who purchased Book Buddies, we received another very generous donation from a gentleman who stopped at our Flea Market table, as well as a donation left on the library desk. We very much appreciate all of these thoughtful donations.

We try to keep a tally of the number of books the library receives during the season. In January 410 books were donated. There were 209 of these processed and put on the shelves and 201 were put into the free book crates. These are fiction books that were published before our 5-year limit unless the book is recommended or part of a series. We also do not keep duplicates unless they are currently on a best seller list or are currently very popular. Non-fiction books are kept if they are current in some genres and if they fill a need in others.

We know we have also received many new DVDs and CDs which we did not tally. We thank everyone for all the donations that are the backbone of our collection. The newer fiction donations we are receiving are resulting in a very upgraded collection.

A reminder to any readers who enjoy reading about the Amish that Sue Jansen will be in the library on Tuesday, Feb. 18 at 2 p.m. to discuss life among the Amish.

You may have noticed the sign in the window on the Post Office side of the library. February is not only the month for valentines, it is also Love Your Library Month. We think we have a library that shows the love of all who use it, those who donate and all who work as volunteers. I often hear the words "I love our little library" from both users of the library and the volunteer staff.

As always if you have any concerns or suggestions please see me or any library volunteer. We always welcome your input.

HENRY

by Judy Leister

Although it's illegal to consume dog meat in only a handful of states, it is still not a popular practice in the U.S. or Canada. It's totally different in China. Ten to twelve million dogs are killed and eaten in China each year making it the world's largest consumer of dog meat.

Yuck! Those are some pretty gruesome numbers. We have an adorable little four-legged resident here at TR that escaped those statistics and is living a happy life now. This would be Diane and Al Galletti's Henry.

Slaughterhouse employees in China have to meet a quota when collecting dogs. There are quite a few feral dogs that are quickly nabbed but when they are not meeting their quota, dogs are stolen right out of backyards. Rescue organizations are working hard to help these dogs. In some cases, they get inside information about a truckload of dogs heading to the slaughterhouse and a human chain is formed to stop the truck. The driver is overpowered, the dogs removed and hurried off to safety where all of their medical needs are taken care of, and they are issued a passport for world travel. Foster homes care for them until they are adopted to countries around the world. The Galletti's Henry is one of those dogs.

Diane and Al had always used the same groomer near their home in Canada. This groomer happened to have a friend who had worked in China and became aware of the slaughtering which led to her involvement with the rescue efforts. It doesn't take long for the friend-of-a-friend information train to get rolling and Diane got a call from the rescue group telling her of an adorable little poodle available for adoption.

Diane and Al had lost their last dog Charlie shortly before receiving the call. Diane wasn't sure they were ready for another dog yet so she held off telling Al for half a day. When she did finally say something to him he was all for checking out this poodle.

Diane quickly called the rescue lady back. She happened to be at her son's hockey banquet but ran home and returned to the banquet with the dog. It took an hour for Diane and Al to get to the banquet where they found a very tired little dog. That's what happens when a kid-friendly dog is surrounded by a whole team of little boys. Yep, you guessed it. Henry went home with Diane and Al that night.

Henry was a bit nervous on the trip home and still gets a little worried when traveling. It makes sense that a car ride might upset him. After all, prior to his rescue he had lived in a nasty home, was then stolen and transported to another not so friendly place and then shipped off to be someone's dinner. None of those rides had been much fun for poor little Henry. I'm sure "Oh no, where am I going now?" ran through his head a lot.

Now Henry has a wonderful life full of love and happiness. His fun-filled days involve playing with his toys, chewing on bones and long walks around TR saying hi to everyone. At home he loves to torment his kitty sister Nora. He also loves to raid her food dish when no one is watching. No dog beds on the floor for Henry. He has turned those over to Nora and has taken his rightful place on the people bed right between Diane and Al. An alarm clock isn't necessary either. Henry's version of a good morning wake-up call is a big slurpy kiss to the nose.

After a long winter of red noses and wet mittens, summer is a welcome time for Miss Read and her downland village friends.

Summer at Fairacre charmingly recounts this bright, bustling season and the problems and possibilities that unfold against the background of roses, skylarks and bees. Joseph Coggs finds a temporary home in the schoolhouse while his mother is in the hospital. Miss Read's friend Amy mysteriously disappears. Perhaps most difficult of all, Mrs. Pringle, the grumpy school cleaner, is unable to work because the pain in her bad leg flares up. Still, the sounds of children playing and the fragrance of summertime flowers fill the air, as Miss Read shepherds her students and friends through the warm season.*****

Pet Lovers Club

Are you a pet enthusiast?

by Tia Paquette

Pets have been part of my world all my life. I have had dogs, cats, mice, rats, hamsters, turtles, fish, rabbits, horses and a pig. Right now in my senior years I compete with Bailey in agility. Why? Because I just love animals and animal husbandry. That is why I got involved with the Pet Lovers Club.

Pet Lovers Club is an amazing support group and encompasses all TR pets. We advise the TR Office of needs and challenges facing pet owners. We also watch out for needs at the Puppy Park, like benches, the wash bay and maintenance.

As officers of the Pet Lovers Club, we have been organizing fun events. Judy Leister and I have been teaming up and brainstorming for close to five years. We have, with the help of Kathy Shawver enlarged our Puppy Park, put in poop bags, set out the pet trails, organized the Pet Fair, the Pet Parade, brought in numerous presentations, written pet articles for The TR Times and chaired the monthly meetings. More than that, we have met some wonderful people and pets!

If you are interested in helping out with ideas, lending a hand or becoming an officer we can certainly use new people!

Please consider your Pet Lovers Club as a volunteer destination and see how we soar to new activities. Contact Judy Leister at lot 15-33 with any inquiries or information.

Alzheimer’s fundraiser a success

by Sandy Nelson

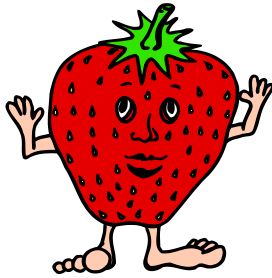

Our initial Alzheimer's Strawberry Shortcake Fundraiser went off without a hitch. We served 300 strawberry shortcakes. That was seven flats of strawberries, 32 cups of heavy whipping cream, 18 half gallons of ice cream and 10 very talented strawberry hullers. The Silent Auction went well and there was a large turnout at the movie. Unfortunately, the Internet let us down and the movie could not be shown. Hopefully we will be able to view it at another time. We are proud to announce that we raised just short of $4,000 for Alzheimer’s research; that is quite an accomplishment. Thank you TR.

Art Applications and white-line printmaking

by Pam Watkins

Donna Mason leads the fine art project section in the Art Applications class that meets on Tuesdays, 10 a.m. to noon in the Activity Center. Currently, students are creating white-line prints that are suitable for framing. Donna shares that this type of project is not a make-and-take item but one that is designed to take up to several classes to complete.

White-line printmaking, also known as Provincetown printmaking as the process began in Provincetown, Mass., are basically relief paintings that begin with a printed design on 1/4" birch plywood. This is etched or carved with hand tools, painted with water-color and transferred to paper with a rubbing technique that is typically completed with the back of a spoon. The white-line cuts emphasize the design, separate the colors and add texture or relief to the final print. The process sounds simple but if you attend the class, you will learn that it takes patience and skill to create these unique works of art.

There is still time for you to create your own white-line print. Classes continue through the season and beginning students are most welcome.

Donna Mason works with Roza Caylakyan to choose her design.

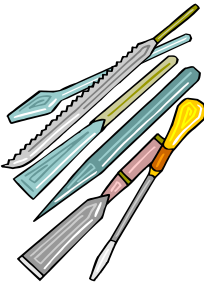

Roza Caylakyan traces her design onto her 1/4 inch birch plywood.

Dottie Steurer works carefully on her fish design.

A spoon is used to rub paint into Roza Caylakyan's print.

Jennifer Baldini adds yellow to a small section of her flower design.

Susan Zimmerman inspects the paint that she transferred to the print.

Golf Etiquette

by George Paquette

Every year I like to review TRGA’s policy on golf etiquette as outlined in our rules and regulations. I think it makes sense to take a few minutes to reacquaint ourselves with the appropriate etiquette as we enjoy our season at TR. As well, it provides folks new to the park and perhaps new to the game with a foundation they can work with. The rules are simple and easy to follow and help to make everyone’s golf experience more pleasurable.

Etiquette on the golf course is simple.

- Be courteous to other players. If you see them they can hear you.
- Leave the golf course in better condition than you found it.
- Play in a timely fashion. Nine holes equals 1 hour and 30 minutes approximately.
- Keep pace with the group in front.
- When using a motorized cart, check cart path signs and use paths accordingly.
- Arrive at the Starter Shack 15 minutes before your assigned tee time.
- Players should avoid causing damage to the course, particularly with practice swings on the tees.

They should repair divots and ball marks on the greens.

On the Tee...#1

- On the 1st tee announce the type of ball you will use and put an identifying mark on your ball.
- To speed up play, “ready golf” should be used everywhere with the exception of tournaments.

• When taking your shot on the tee or elsewhere, others should stand back, stand still, avoid talking and stay out of peripheral vision.

• No player should strike a ball until the players ahead are out of range.

On the green...

- Don’t drop golf bags or flagstick on the green.
- Walk golf carts to the next tee side of the green before putting.
- Always walk around the other person’s line of putt.
- Don’t lean on the putter; it makes a dent.
- Never step on anyone’s line of putt.
- Place your ball marker behind your ball, not to the side or front.
- Read the green while others putt. Be ready when it’s your turn.
- No “scooping” the ball out of the cup with the putter head, it causes damage to the edge.

- Fix all ball marks and cup edges.
- The first one to finish putting should pick up the flag and be ready to place it back in the cup.
- Check to see that no clubs have been left behind.
- When hole is finished, immediately leave the green and proceed to the next tee.

Fill out score card once you are at the next tee.

As you play...

- Help your group search for lost balls.
- Take only one practice swing.
- Play a provisional ball if you think that the original one may be out of bounds.
- Plan your shot and select your club while walking to your ball or while others are playing.
- Converse while walking or when it does not delay play and not when others are making a shot.

Remember to always play by the rules of golf. Play quickly and observe golf etiquette and you will be an integral part of the greatest game of all.

Cheers!

On the ball

by Pat Anderson

As you may have noticed our handicaps have changed. It looks like many of them increased! Please check the handicap sheet that is posted at the Starter Shack. Your handicaps are very important as they determine which hole you can claim if you get closest to the pin on either #3 or #5. Handicaps also determine where you tee off from. High handicaps tee off from the yellow tee box and low handicaps tee off from the red tee box. Pat Butler is now signing up participants for the Ladies Golf Tournament. She will have the signup forms available every Wednesday at Ladies Golf. In order to win any of the trophies, you must have a handicap; you must be a paid up member of the Ladies Golf League and you must have played at least four games this year. The handicaps posted for Feb. 15 will be used to determine which flight you are in and your teammates during our Ladies Golf Tournament.

Important upcoming dates:
Feb. 26 - Nominating Committee must post the proposed slate of new Ladies Golf executives - to be confirmed at our last brown bag meeting.
March 4/5 - Ladies Golf Tournament (rain dates on March 11/12).
March 7 - Bake Sale in Busch Hall. Bring your goodies at 7:30 a.m. Please wrap in $1 amounts.

Recent Coffee Seminars

Legal planning reviewed

by Lynne Lapin

The Tuesday, Jan. 4, Coffee Seminar covered legal planning. Do-it-yourselfers are common at TR. Mess up a project and the worst that might happen is that you hire a professional to fix your mistakes. This is not so with your will and estate planning. Documents prepared incorrectly can lead to your estate assets being eaten up by legal fees faster than a colony of termites can consume a rotting pile of wood, and what is left may not end up going to those you intended.

More than 60 people from across the U.S. and Canada were on hand at Busch Hall on Tuesday, Feb. 4, for the Coffee Seminar to hear R. Seth Mann, Esq., CPA, CFP, of R. Seth Mann, P.A., Dade City. He spoke on how to ensure that what you leave behind after your death, or should you become incapacitated, is protected from exorbitant fees and that your wishes are honored. He spoke on specifics including incompetence, disability, long-term care, asset transfer, probate and taxes.

Mann emphasized the importance of designating a properly assigned individual with HIPAA authority who can discuss your health issues, knows what facility you'd want to be placed in if necessary and even your nutrition wishes. When it comes to a power of attorney (POA), Mann states you should have a durable POA because "if it is not durable, the POA ends if you become incapacitated," which means you no longer have a personal advocate working in your best interest.

HELPFUL HINTS

So, what estate planning aspect got the biggest reaction from the audience when mentioned by Mann? Without a doubt, it was how second marriages can lead to wishes being overlooked. He says it's very common for those in second marriages to verbally agree to arrangements for their separate heirs. Unfortunately, incidences often happen even as late as at the actual funeral that lead to agreements being broken. For this reason he stresses that estate planning must include clear instructions on property divisions in blended families.

Florida, having more senior citizens than other areas, has the most protective planning and estate laws available explained Mann. Florida also accepts any will valid in the state in which it was executed according to what that state mandates. There are two exceptions: holographic wills (unwitnessed wills in the testator's handwriting and signed by the testator) and nuncupative (oral) wills. Should you choose to have your will written in Florida, Mann says that other states will honor the will just as it would be treated by Florida's highly protective law.

Mann invited TR residents to visit his office with their current estate planning documents. For a free consultation, call the office of R. Seth Mann, P.A. at 352-567-5010. One resident who took advantage of this offer learned what the pitfalls of using her earlier DIY form will could have been upon her death. She told the group that she now has a customized will.

Operation S.A.F.E warns TR seniors to be scam smart

by Kathy Carlig

Operation S.A.F.E. stands for Stop Adult Financial Exploitation. This program was brought to us by the Florida Department of Financial Services at the Coffee Seminar on Thursday, Feb. 7. Jimmy Patronis is the Chief Financial Officer of this Department. Their Consumer Help Line can be used to report insurance problems and can revoke licenses of insurance companies if there are many complaints.

Seniors control 70 percent of the nation's wealth which explains why they are so often a target for financial exploitation. One out of every five adults age 65 or older has been a victim of a scam: 79 percent have been scammed by a family member, 49 percent by a caregiver and 47 percent by a trusted friend or neighbor. Sadly only 1 in 40 crimes are reported. Seniors are targeted most often because they own their own home and have excellent credit. They are also more polite and trusting than the younger generation. Seniors are often not sure where to report fraud, or don't want their family members to think they can't handle their financial affairs. Scam artists also believe seniors make poor witnesses and will not remember the details clearly. There is an Economic or Financial Crimes Unit at the Sheriff's Offices in Florida where suspected fraud can be reported.

Be wary of someone who tries to ingratiate themselves into your life. Never sign a document that contains blanks. Do not allow yourself to be rushed through any process. Make sure you consider all the options before signing anything. If something sounds too good to be true, it probably is.

Listed below are some of the most common frauds and scams. It is a long list but worthy of your perusal. You probably have heard of many of them before.

Grandparent scam - Done by phone. Do not mention your grandchild's name. If you wire money, there is no way to recover it.

Lottery or sweepstakes fraud - Done by phone, email or mail. Legitimate lotteries do not require fees to be paid. Taxes and fees are deducted from prize money before it is paid out.

Investment scam - Usually Pyramid or Ponzi schemes. Consult with an unconnected third party before investing.

Reverse Mortgage Scams - Do not respond to unsolicited advertising. Do not sign any papers that you do not fully understand. If you are interested, seek out your own mortgage counselor.

Romance Scam - Done on the Internet. The scam artist pretends to have romantic intentions toward you. The scam artist preys on a person's need for companionship. Never send money to someone you do not know.

Home Improvement Scam - Done by personal contact at your door. These scam artists often leave a bigger mess than before they started. Repair man is not bonded. Often try to get into your home to commit other thefts.

Telemarketing Scam - Done by phone. Attempts are made to sell bogus products. They try to rush you into making a purchase. Contact 1-888-382-1222 or www.DoNotCall.gov to stop as many unwanted calls as you can.

Charitable Donation Scam - Done by phone or in person. These scams are most popular after a disaster. Donate to local and familiar charities only. Use the Internet at Check-A-Charity resource before donating.

IRS Scam - Done by phone. If you get a call from someone claiming to be from IRS simply hang up. Remember IRS will send you a letter if they want to get in touch with you.

Tax Identity Theft Scam - The scam artist uses your personal information to file a return in the hope of receiving your refund. File your tax return early. Never divulge your Social Security Number.

Tech Support Scam - Done by phone or email. Do not let the scam artist take over your computer. Never provide your credit card number or password to someone who calls you.

Jury Duty Scam - Done by phone. The scammer will try to convince you that you are facing penalty fees for missing jury duty. The courts will never contact you by phone or Internet. You will receive a letter.

Online Phishing Scam - Done by Internet. You can protect yourself from this scam by not clicking on any links in an email that claims to be from your financial institution.

Advance Loan Fee Scam - Done by phone or Internet. Guarantees that you will receive a loan regardless of past credit history if you pay a fee upfront. Check with your local bank or credit union regarding your loan options.

Fake Check or Money Order Scam - On sites with classified ads, the scammer will send you a check for more money than the item costs and will ask you for a refund. If you make the refund you will usually also find out that the original check was fake.

RFID (Radio Frequency Identification) wallet is an excellent item to protect your credit cards or your passport from skimming. These wallets can be purchased at many local stores.

Shredding. We were also reminded to shred everything with personal information on it. The recommended shredder is a cross cut shredder.

Don't believe your caller ID. Known as spoofing, this is a way of disguising a communication from an unknown source as being from a known, trusted source. Hang up on robocalls.

Beware of free trials. They are easy to start but may be more difficult to stop.

Be sure to initiate an annual credit report at www.AnnualCreditReport.com or 1-877-322-8228. You can get three free reports per year. Freeze your accounts so nothing new can be opened without your knowledge. A freeze can be lifted by you in just one hour.

As you can tell from this report our speaker covered a great deal of territory. These scams may be new to you or simply a review but these reminders are all worthwhile. We also thank our speakers for the breakfast treats at their seminar.

Obituary

JOHN PETER ZYCH

John Peter Zych, born in a refugee camp in Auxerre, France, passed away at the Southampton Hospital, in Ontario, on Friday, Feb. 7, 2020 48 years to the day after becoming engaged to his beloved wife Barbara.

John was just a baby when he made the long journey with his family on the ship Miss Nellie to Halifax in 1951. They traveled by train to Maxwell, Ontario to work on a cow farm, then moved on to a fruit farm in Jordan Station, Ontario where they lived until John was 12 years old. Ultimately his family moved to St. Catharines where he lived until he and Barbara were married in Tobermory in 1972.

True to both their spirits of adventure they piled into their Duster, packed their U-Haul to the rafters and headed west to Manitoba where both of their daughters were born and John became a journeyman electrician.

After several years they moved to Port Elgin where they settled, made their life and cultivated many close friendships.

John was the true embodiment of community. He was always ready with his tools and skills whenever anyone needed anything. He gave many hours of his time keeping the church and the clinic buildings and grounds in perfect order, taking care of the Big Tub Lighthouse, fighting for workers’ rights as a steward of the union and helping out however he could. He was always ready with a friendly word and a side-splitting joke.

John was an electrician, a woodworker, a boat builder, a father, an uncle, a brother and a son. He was an avid hunter and an accomplished fisherman. He was a good provider. He lost most of his right hand as a child but overcame this limitation to become a skilled craftsman. He was kind, inclusive and proud to be a Canadian. He loved camping, canoeing, boating, hunting, hosting the biggest bonfires, traveling and wintering at TR on lot 13-19 in the Cabanas but most of all he loved spending time with his family.

He lived his life to the fullest right up to his last moment. His family agreed they will always cherish this great man who taught them how to achieve their goals no matter what obstacles they faced. Fighting with incredible bravery and dignity to the end in true John fashion, he never lost his quick wit and his wonderful sense of humor.

He left this world singing and laughing with family and friends.

He is survived by his wife Barbara, daughters Tanya (Scott) Thornton of Listowel and Amy (Scott) Nicholson of Port Elgin, granddaughters Anna Nicholson and Brea Thornton.

A Celebration of Life will be held Feb. 15 at 11 a.m. at the Tobermory United Church with reception following at the Tobermory Legion Branch 290. Donations in John’s memory may be made to the Tobermory United Church or The Royal Canadian Legion Branch 290.
